Smith argues that death is not the end, but rather a transition to a new phase of existence. He presents evidence from near-death experiences, reincarnation studies, and other sources to support his claim that consciousness survives the death of the body. Smith also explores the different realms of the afterlife, including heaven, hell, and purgatory. He explains how our thoughts and actions in this life determine our fate in the next.

Death Blinks The Death is a fascinating and thought-provoking book that will change the way you think about death. Smith's insights and evidence provide a glimpse into the unknown, offering hope and comfort to those who are facing the loss of a loved one. This book is a must-read for anyone who is curious about the afterlife.

What Happens When We Die?

According to Smith, death is not the end of consciousness. When we die, our consciousness simply transitions to a new phase of existence. This phase of existence can be either positive or negative, depending on our thoughts and actions in this life.

If we have lived a good life, full of love and compassion, then we will transition to a positive realm of the afterlife. This realm is often described as heaven or paradise. In heaven, we will be reunited with our loved ones and experience eternal happiness.

If we have lived a negative life, full of hatred and violence, then we will transition to a negative realm of the afterlife. This realm is often described as hell or purgatory. In hell, we will experience eternal suffering and torment.

The good news is that it is never too late to change our ways. Even if we have made mistakes in the past, we can still make amends and live a good life. By doing so, we can ensure that we will transition to a positive realm of the afterlife.

The Different Realms of the Afterlife

According to Smith, there are different realms of the afterlife, including heaven, hell, and purgatory. The realm that we transition to depends on our thoughts and actions in this life.

Heaven is a realm of eternal happiness and bliss. It is a place where we will be reunited with our loved ones and experience all the joys that life has to offer. Heaven is often described as a place of peace, love, and beauty.

Hell is a realm of eternal suffering and torment. It is a place where we will be punished for our sins. Hell is often described as a place of fire, brimstone, and darkness.

Purgatory is a realm of temporary suffering. It is a place where we will be cleansed of our sins and prepared for heaven. Purgatory is often described as a place of purification and healing.

The good news is that we can choose which realm of the afterlife we will transition to. By living a good life, full of love and compassion, we can ensure that we will go to heaven. By avoiding sin and living a virtuous life, we can avoid going to hell. And by making amends for our sins, we can shorten our stay in purgatory.

Death is a mystery, but it is not the end. Our consciousness survives the death of the body and transitions to a new phase of existence. By living a good life, full of love and compassion, we can ensure that we will transition to a positive realm of the afterlife. And by avoiding sin and living a virtuous life, we can avoid going to hell. Death is not the end, it is only the beginning.

If you are interested in learning more about the afterlife, I encourage you to read Death Blinks The Death. This book is a fascinating and thought-provoking exploration of the mysteries of death and the afterlife.
